

How does the account onboarding process start?

Once agreements are executed and a purchase order issued to Four Points, account setup and onboarding begins. Typically your organization will identify a management group who will implement governance controls and policies for overall AWS usage. Your management team has the option to transfer an existing AWS management account (formerly known as master payer) to your Four Points purchase agreement or on-board a new AWS management account. Subject to your organization's internal governance guidelines, your organization will have the option of taking administrative control of both management (formerly known as master payer) and member accounts (formerly known as linked account).
